professional manner in dealing with the public and department clients and provide quality customer service to all customers.

Associate Personnel Analysts review and evaluate requests from managers that cover the broad range of personnel considerations including classifications (including job audits), appointments, transfers, performance problems, non-punitive actions and terminations, and out-of-class experiences. They develop technically sound alternatives that may include developing new approaches and organizational change or revisions. They must be able to provide thorough and complete staff work on personnel related issues to meet immediate needs of operation units.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR DECISIONS AND CONSEQUENCES OF ERROR

Associate Personnel Analysts will have access to very sensitive and confidential information. Careless, accidental, or intentional disclosure of information to unauthorized persons can have far-reaching effects, which may result in civil or criminal actions against those involved.

The incumbent is responsible for complying with the Information Practices Act (IPA) by protecting departmental employees' confidential information, including, but not limited to, social security numbers, medical or employment history, education, financial transactions, or similar information. Failure to protect departmental employee's confidential information may damage DHR's reputation as a confidential organization, may result in employee grievances or lawsuits, and, pursuant to California Civil Code section 1798.55, could result in disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Associate Personnel Analysts will be responsible for determining correct appointment method and salary. Failure to do so could result in an illegal appointment and/or overpayment to the employee. This result may lead to action taken against the Department.

Associate Personnel Analysts independently and without review make determinations on the majority of classifications, which are delegated to the Department, in their assigned units. Classification review not delegated to the analyst, and decisions sensitive in nature will be discussed with the supervisor prior to decision. Failure to determine the appropriate classification could lead to mis-allocation of funds.

The Associate Personnel Analyst assist in the development of departmental policy concerning a broad range of personnel management subjects and advise management on the non-punitive personnel actions appropriate for problem personnel situations including salary inequities, medical problems, and employability questions. Failure to advise appropriate action could have the department in violation of state/ federal laws.

PUBLIC AND INTERNAL CONTACTS

Associate Personnel Analysts independently confer with all levels of management and staff in the Department and with employee representatives, e.g. union representatives, personal attorneys, etc. in their daily activities. With supervisory approval, they also contact control agencies (SPB, CalHR etc) for consultation.

PHYSICAL, MENTAL, AND EMOTIONAL REQUIREMENTS

Employees may be required to sit for long periods of time using a keyboard and video display terminal.

WORK ENVIRONMENT

While at their base of operation, employees will work in a climate-controlled office under artificial lighting. Employees may also have to occasionally travel to offices and field locations throughout California.

This position may be required to telework in addition to performing office work at an assigned location. The amount and availability of telework and/or in-office work will be determined by the Division based on the functions of the position.
